R. and to the Eastern Division of the Pacific R. R., will amount, besides land grants, to $125,000,000, and offering to construct either or both roads for a subsidy of $150,000 per mile, in addition to land grants, thus saving to the Treasury $75,000,000, and offering to give bonds, endorsed by capitalists representing $100,000,000.

The bill proposes to grant twenty alternate sections of land on each side of the road, and an issue of Government thirty year six per cent. currency bonds to the amount of $16,000 per mile, to be secured by a second mortgage on the property of the company.

Mr. RICE also introduced a bill to provide for an additional term of the United States Circuit Court in Arkansas. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The President announced the appointment of Abbott and Rice as additional members of the Committee on Pacific Railroad.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the bill for the relief of Sue Murfy, which was debated until four o'clock, when the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. BUTLER, of Mass., introduced a bill to authorize the issue of national currency, to assure its stability and elasticity, lessen the interest on the public debt and reduce the rate of interest, as follows:

Be it enacted, &c., That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed, after the 30th day of June next, to issue on the faith and credit of the United States $350,000,000, and such further sum as may be required to carry into effect the provisions of this act, in certificates of value of the Tresury of the United States, not bearing interest, and of such amount as he may deem expedient, of not less than one dollar each, which shall be receivable in payment of all taxes, duties, excises, debts and demands of every kind due the United States, and for all claims and demands against the United States of every kind whatever, except when the law creating such claim or demand requires that the same shall be paid in coin, and be lawful money and legal tender in payment of public and private debts, except as aforesaid, within the United States, and shall be receivable in payment for all loans made to the United States; said certificates shall be in the similitude of Treasury notes heretofore issued, except that they shall bear only on their face the denomination or value for which they are money, together with appropriate vignettes to prevent counterfeiting, and such signatures, checks and numbers or other references as may be best to prevent over issues and forgeries, and on the back thereof shall be printed the provisions of the law under which they are issued.

SEC. 2. That after the 30th day of June next National Banks shall cease to be banks of issue, and all taxes on their circulation shall thereafter cease, and it shall be the duty of every collector or other officer having received in payment of a debt or tax due to the United States any bill heretofore issued by any National Bank to return the same on the first day of each succeeding month, until the first day of January, 1878, when such bills shall be no longer receivable, to the Comptroller of the Currency, to be cancelled and destroyed in his presence and in the presence of the Treasurer of the United States, and Register, of which destruction a memorandum, containing the amount of bills, their numbers and name of the bank issuing them, shall be made in a book kept for that purpose, and signed by the officers aforesaid, and said collector or other officer shall be credited in his account with the amount so returned, and the same shall be done with all other bank bills and and legal tender notes now issued or which shall be issued, when they are returned to the Treasury.

SEC. 3. That whenever any of the bills of any National Bank received in payment of debt or tax due the United States, shall be returned to the Comptroller of the Treasury, he shall charge on the amount three hundred and sixty-five hundredths per cent. interest per annum, in coin, which shall be deducted from the amount of interest payable by the United States to said bank on bonds lodged for security of said bills, until an equal amount of certificates of the value of three per cent. certificates issued in pursuance of the act of March 18, 1867, and the act of July 3, 1868, shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States by such bank, whereupon a pro rata amount of said bonds shall be returned to such banks.

SEC. 4. That after the 30th day of December next no National Bank bill shall be received by any officer of the United States in payment of any public debt or tax, but each of the National Banks may at any time return to the Comptroller of the Currency an amount issued to such bank and then outstanding and unredeemed on his books and receive a pro rata amount of bonds lodged as security therefor, and from the 30th of said June said National Banks shall be charged three hundred and sixty-five hundredths per cent. interest in coin on amount of all bills outstanding and unredeemed in the manner before provided, to be deducted from the interest payable on said bonds so long as said bills shall remain outstanding and unredeemed.

SEC. 5. After the 30th of June next each Collector and disbursing officer, except the Treasurer and Assistant Treasurer of the United States, having in his hands any legal tender notes belonging to the Treasury at New York, shall forthwith return the same to the nearest Assistant Treasurer of the United States and receive therefor an equal amount of certificates of value of convenient denominations for payment and circulation of credit on his account as he may select, and on the first day of each month hereafter every such officer shall make a like return of legal tender notes as may come into his possession and receive a like payment and credit therefor, and after the 30th of June no disbursing officer of the United States shall pay out or disburse any other money save certificates of value, except when he may be ordered by the Secretary of the Treasury to pay or disburse coin.

SEC. 6. After the 30th day of June next any person or association, whether banking or other, owing any bond of the United States of one hundred dollars, or any multiple thereof, payable to the bearer, bearing six per cent. interest in coin, with coupons for accrued interest attached, may present the same to the Treasurer or any Assistant Treasurer of the United States or other public depository, to be designated by the Secretary of the Treasury for that purpose, and who shall have lodged in the Treasury of the United States sufficient security, and shall receive thereof ninety per cent. of par on its face in certificates of value in such denominations as he may choose, paying on that amount at the rate of three hundred and sixty-five hundredths per cent. per annum interest in coin for thirty days, and until he shall return an equal amount of said certificates to the Treasury of the United States, said bond or bonds shall remain in the Treasury as security for certificates so delivered and interest thereon, which shall be deducted from the interest to be paid by the United States on such bonds; at any time after thirty days the owner of any bond so pledged in the Treasury of the United States may return certificates of value equal to ninety per cent. of the value thereof and receive back his bonds and coupons pledged, as before provided, less interest, and said certificates and amount thereof paid to him, and the Treasurer, or Assistant Treasurer, where said bond is pledged, shall, during the time of its deposit, pay to the owner thereof accrued interest thereon beyond that due on said certificates once in every six months.

SEC. 7. The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to cause to be coined tokens of value, which shall be legal tenders and lawful money for any sum less than one dollar as fractional currency, of the denomination of ten cents or upwards, in the similitude of silver coin, silver so alloyed with copper or other metal as to be fifty per cent. less in value than the denomination thereof, and therewith redeem the fractional currency of the United States, when presented to the Treasurer or any Assistant Treasurer of the United States in sums of five dollars or upward, after the 30th day of June next, and on the 13th day of December next such fractional paper currency shall not be received by any officer of the United States except for redemption as before provided.

On motion of Mr. BUTLER, the bill was referred to Committee on Ways and Means.

He moved to reconsider the motion and thereupon made a lengthy speech in support of the bill.

On motion of Mr. WASHBURNE, Ills, Mr. Butler's motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Mr. SPALDING, from Com. on Appropriations, reported a resolution that all papers and evidence returned to the War Department by Davis, Holt & Campbell, Commissioners touching the Department of the West, before the 14th of October, 1861, shall be surrendered and turned over to the Attorney General, whose duty it shall be to cause the evidence to be examined, and such as has a bearing on the Court of Claims shall be printed and received by said Court, subject however to examination or in explanation of witnesses of either part.

Mr. SPALDING said the Commission had unanimously instructed him to offer the resolution and ask its passage at this time. He explained that these claims were adjudicated by a Commission appointed under an act of Congress. One of them was a Justice of the Supreme Court, another Jos. Holt, head of the Bureau of Military Justice, and the third an eminent merchant of St. Louis. The Commission carefully examined these claims and directed so much to be paid as they deemed just. The claimants did receive their money and gave receipts in full; but now, astonishing as it might appear, they bring a suit in the Court of Claims and ask a difference between what was originally claimed and what they said they ought to have in satisfaction of their claims. The claimants say they gave their receipts under duress, therefore they are not bound by them. In reply to a question by Mr. Schenck, he said the evidence was not conclusive, but was to be taken by the Court for what it was worth. The resolution passed.

Mr. DAWES presented the credentials of J. S. Casement as a delegate from Wyoming Territory.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, objected to his admission, and the credentials were referred to Committee on Elections.

The House concurred in the Senate joint resolution to continue the Committee on Ordnance.

Mr. BOUTWELL, from the Judiciary Committee, reported that the lien of the United States on the Union Pacific Railroad, Eastern Division, was not affected by alleged irregularities or Illegal proceedings of the Company engaged in the construction. The report was laid on the table and ordered printed.

Mr. BOUTWELL, from the Committee on Reconstruction, reported a bill to relieve from political disabilities Wm. H. Begley, of North Carolina. Passed by the required two-thirds vote.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported the Legislative, etc. appropriation bill, which was made the special order for to-morrow.

A bill was passed giving the use of the rotunda of the old Hall of Representatives for the inauguration ball.

Mr. ACKLEY, Ohio, introduced a bill providing a temporary government for Alaska; also, a bill relative to the election of delegates. Referred to the Committee on Territories.

The bill to equalize bounties of soldiers, sailors and marines, who served in the late war for the Union, was considered.

Mr. WASHBURNE, Indiana, supported it, saying fifty millions would more than cover the amount required. On his motion the bill was recommitted, when he moved to reconsider the motion.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, moved to lay the motion on the table—rejected, yeas 48, nays 81.

Further consideration of the motion was then postponed for three weeks.

Mr. BANKS, from the Foreign Committee, reported a resolution requesting the President to use his good offices for the purpose of obtaining from the Russian government prompt and just consideration of the claims of Benjamin W. Perkins and others. Adopted.

Mr. BANKS reported a joint resolution, already published, proposing the protection of Hayti and San Domingo by the United States. He said this subject had been brought to our attention very recently, and that the resolution was based upon the theory that these Republics desired the action recommended. He was not, however, authorized officially to state the fact; but mentioned it on his own responsibility, predicated on the best information which he could obtain. He had presented the subject to the Committee on Foreign Affairs. There was not time for a full consideration. It was a noval question and of importance, but he received the unanimous authority of the Committtee to make a report.

Mr. MULLINS inquired whether by pursuing the course they were not running the hazard of interfering with foreign governments?

Mr. BANKS replied: In no respect whatever. No European government had the slightest claim on the island, and the resolution did not contemplate intervention in the slightest degree. It was only for the purpose of assisting Hayti and San Domingo to maintain their own institutions.

Mr. INGERSOLL asked Mr. Banks to inform the House what would be our future ability, by virtue of the proposed protectorate, on our relations.

Mr. BANKS said the resolution did not contemplate a protectorate, in the European sense. It might require nothing more than sending thither a vessel of war, and in case of the interruption of public peace to advise the parties attempting revolution that they had better wait till the regular period of election occurred. He was satisfied this would be sufficient to secure the object of the resolution.

Mr. WOODWARD inquired whether this was not initiating steps for "entangling alliances," against which the Father of our Country warned us?

Mr. BANKS replied that it was not initiating steps, excepting to secure good government. All the European powers had recognized the independence of those Republics, and Spain had withdrawn all claim to sovereignty of the island.

Mr. WOODWARD inquired: If we extend our protection to those feeble independent Governments, do we not initiate aggression with European powers?

Mr. BANKS: We do not; but we prevent aggression.

Mr. WARD inquired whether there was any precedent for the contemplated action?

Mr. BANKS replied there was no precedent; but we are in the age when new action was required. He then stated that owing to the frequent revolutions our commerce had within a few years suffered to the extent of millions of dollars, and within those Republics our trade would be very much increased. And this, if there were no other reasons, was sufficient why we should desire peace.

Mr. JUDD asked whether there was any pending negotiation between the Executive and those Governments, looking to a protectorate?

Mr. BANKS replied that he was not at liberty to state there had been; but he could state his own belief that those governments and people desired and would accept our friendly intervention. More than this he could not say without compromising those governments. He believed when we made the proffer, it would be accepted.

Mr. GARFIELD remarked the gentleman from Massachusetts had said we might send a ship of war to that Island. How could peace and quiet be urged, unless the vessel was called on to do something?

Mr. BANKS replied that we could not take possession of the territory, or occupy their seas, without a treaty between those republics and our own. If the Governments ask for our protection, we can afford it. Our vessels would be accompanied by officers who, if there should be an organization to revolutionize the Government, could advise the insurgents to desist from their purposes until the time for the election of President occurred in pursuance to law.

Mr. JUDD enquired: Suppose the revolutionists should refuse to accept the advice?

Mr. BANKS—Then it would be for the Government of the United States to determine what ought to be done and consult the Senate in the form of a treaty.

Mr. BINGHAM asked whether it would not be well to limit the scope of the resolution by adding to the proviso, that it was deemed important to restrict the President so as not to be involved in an appropriation of money without consulting the Congress of the United States and obtaining its consent for further action. Otherwise we might involve the country in a conflict of arms.

Mr. BANKS replied. We did not intend to enter into a conflict of arms. We want good government; therefore, revolutions in that Island imperil the peace of our own country. The resolution did not warrant an expenditure of money.

Mr. FERRIS did not see how the object could be made effectual by the limited power in the resolution, and he enquired whether the Committee in determining to recommend the protectorate of the Islands, regarded it as a stepping stone, having in view the ultimate annexation of the territories.

Mr. BANKS replied the Committee had no such an idea, nor had he any time for consideration. They gave him authority to report the reason, and nothing more than that.

Mr. CULLOM said the understanding of the Committee would not justify the gentleman from Massachusetts calling for a vote on the resolution to-day.

Mr. JUDD said they wanted further time.

Mr. BANKS said he would consent that the resolution should go over until to-morrow.

The House at 4:15 adjourned.

—It is generally believed that Moses H. Grinnell will be appointed Collector of the Port of New York by Gen. Grant.

NEW YORK, January 12.—The police are actively prosecuting the search for the murderers of Mr. Rogers. Two brothers, Mike and James Logan, were arrested this morning on suspicion. Information has been obtained at Sing Sing prison, which it is hoped may lead to the clearing up of the mystery, but the particulars are not made known.

The Stevenson cotton case, involving a million dollars, was ended in the United States Court to-day. Judge Blatchford charged that the action could not be maintained, and the jury, by direction of the Court, rendered a verdict against the Government.

The Herald says the passage of the bill for the repeal of the Tenure-of-Office act by the heavy vote given indicates the beginning of a decline in the power of radicalism and the ascendancy of more moderate and conciliatory councils in Congress than those which have ruled the two houses in their long and desperate conflict with President Johnson.

The Tribune says the heavy vete in favor of the repeal of the tenure of civil office act in the House may not be any indication of the certainty of its passage in the Senate. It was sprung unexpectedly and crowded through with little debate.

The Times says: The bill to repeal the Tenure-of-Office law, originally enacted to hamper Johnson in his appointments, was passed in the House yesterday, only forty-seven members voting against it. That every one of these forty-seven is a Republican is rather a curious and significant circumstance. It shows forty-seven Republicans in the House have less confidence in Grant than the Democrats. The repealing bill now goes to the Senate, where it is not likely to be so favorably received.

Nothing but harmless, bare walls now remain of old Fort Lafayette. All the guns, ammunition and stores not destroyed by the recent fire have been removed from the ruins. It appears the government had already decided to tear down the fort, it being useless as a defence of the narrows.

It is rumored that on Saturday last another war of races took place between German and Irish emigrants confined on Ward's Island, but the authorities succeeded in quelling the disturbance before much damage was done.

A company of capitalists are about to establish a Pneumatic Dispatch Company in this city for the transmission of letters, packages and other light articles.

The work of removing the obstructions at Hell Gate has commenced.

A Negro Ravisher Lynched—His Body Burned by a Frantic Husband.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MEMPHIS, January 12.—Saturday night last a negro named Vanderberg went to the house of William Smith, an employe of the Mississippi Central Railroad, at Water Valley, Mississippi, and after a desperate struggle succeeded in outraging the person of Mrs. Smith, but not until he had choked her little daughter until she was insensible. As soon as it was daylight Mrs. Smith alarmed the neighbors, who, with the Marshal of the town, went in pursuit and soon succeeded in capturing the ravisher. On bringing him to town it was with the greatest difficulty that the negroes, who had assembled, were kept from burning him. He was placed in jail for safe keeping. That night, however, the Ku Klux in strong force came, took him out and hung him. Yesterday morning Mr. Smith returned home. He became almost a maniac on hearing of the affair and taking a rifle went to the spot where the body of the negro was still hanging, cut it down, gathered rails, built a fire upon it and while the body was burning he danced around it like a madman.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

OUR FIRE DEPARTMENT.

BY ONE OF THE B'HOYS.

Wrapped in the slumbers of early morn
The city sleeps while the flames creep on,
Mischievous spittings of red and blue,
Quickly and silently changing the hue,
Now of a corner, then of a room,
Till out through the window they lighten the gloom.

Quickly tapping, the watchman's mace
Resounds on the curb, as he quickens his pace,
Running rushing, breathless with speed,
Thinking of naught but the urgent need
That's told by the shadows he sees of himself,
As the stranger brightness grow in wealth.

Click, click, click, the dial revolves,
Three times three, and the news is told;
Over the house tops, over the streets,
Flashes the number the watcher greets,
And still in the darkness of early morn,
The flames grow brighter and still creep on.

Alone in his eyrie that beacons the gloom,
The watcher starts at the first alarm;
A silvery gong and a paper scroll
Tell him his duty and then behold!
The tingling heart in the marble case
Sends a strange thrill forth into darkness and space.

On each shadowy tower a spark of life
Grapples a sledge and with Titans might,
Hurls thunderous blows at the resonant bell,
Till sleeping thousands awake at the knell,
And know that the demon of fire is near,
Working destruction, rejoicing at fear.

Down in the stalls where the horses rest,
There's an angry pawing of heavy hoofs;
Out from their blankets a hundred men
Silently, swiftly glide; and then
There is bustle and work while the engine glows,
The horses are hitched, and wide opened the doors.

Into the gloom of the silent street
Thunder the wheels as the horses leap,
Their iron shoes from the stony way
Dash fiery sparks while they throw the spray
Back through the frosty night, to where
A specter handles a throttle with care.

Like battle chargers the giant steeds
Leap to their work and increase their speed;
Like some grim monster from Tubal's forge,
The engine follows with heavy surge,
Groaning hissing, rumbling along,
Breathing fire and smoke as the bells ring on.

In the ruddy light of the furnace jaws
The stern, grim face of the fireman glows,
As he feeds the hungry stomach with coal,
While the jolting monster still onward rolls,
Leaving a wake of cinders bright,
And a trail of smoke to blacken the night.

Ten minutes have passed since the watchman ran,
Fifteen, perhaps, since the flames began;
The building's front is bright with the smile
Of the demon king, who reigns for a while;
But his reign is brief, for the strife begins
'Twixt water and fire, and water wins.

—The famous poisons of the Borgias were very simply concocted. ONE Albert is the new hairdresser of Paris. Albert begins his rounds of heads at 10 A. M., but Worth never sends in a toilet for ball or soiree more than ten minutes before it has to be put on. A toilet delivered on the morn of a fete would cease to be a new one before night, and the belle who has had to sit erect all day for fear of disarranging Albert's edifice has such implicit faith in Worth that she does not mind waiting. I have seen some thus wait until two in the morning, while the beauty's husband was snoring in full dress on the sofa, the coachman freezing on the box, the footman wrapped in his lady's furs in the servant's hall, and still the wife and mistress so serene and calmly secure that it was like a sermon on resignation to look at her. And this faith in Worth was so immense that when the things did come they were put on without inspection; and when they were on, although the Countess could not sit down on the carriage seat because of the pannier, but had to kneel forward, nor lift up her head because of the roof, still when she entered the blazing ball room victory was on her features and hopes of an ice and biscuit within her heart. Nothing more than an ice and biscuit, for everything else would add color to her complexion and anything less would be too great a tax on human nature after a day's fast or so little nourishment that it amounted to absolute fasting.—Paris Cor.

NASBY has lectured one hundred nights this season, and is said to have received fifty thousand dollars therefor. The New York Sun remarks: This is a good deal for one journalist to earn in a year, even if he is as smart as Mr. Locke and as good a fellow, and it may excite the envy of the inexperienced. But when we reflect upon the tough beefsteaks, the corn coffee and the leathery buckwheat cakes that the devoted lecturer must swallow in awful haste; when the imagination conjures up the cold and cheerless spare rooms at deacons' houses, where he is put to sleep in unaired sheets, and where the water is frozen solid when he tries to wash his face in the morning when we think of the tea-tables where he is lionized by the old maids of the whole neighborhood, who interrogate him about theology, or the last number of the Atlantic Monthly, we must cease to look upon his hoard with any feeling but compassion for the dreadful sacrifice and the alarming labors by which it is amassed.

Financial Matters in New York.

Gold Closed at 135¾a135½.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, January 12, 1869.

MONEY.

During the morning there was a more active demand for money, incident to an enlarged business on Stock Exchange, and borrowers on call paid seven per cent. currency, and in many instances coin interest. The rumors that artificial stringency is to be attempted were not credited, and the bank returns to the Clearing House to-day furnish no such indication. The flow of currency here continues. Towards the close of bank hours the market became very easy, and the supply offering at the legal rate was in excess of demand—after 3 o'clock loans made at 6. The transactions at coin interest were exceptional and on mixed collaterals, and the borrowers were parties not in the best standing on the street. Commercial paper dull at 8a10 per cent. Sterling stronger with few produce bills offering, and leading bankers are disposed to advance the rates to shipping point for gold to 9¼@9¾. Gold stronger and more active, in sympathy with Exchange, ranging from 135¼ to 135½, and closing at 135⅝@135½. Gross clearances to-day $48,000,000. The Gold Exchange by a vote of 178 to 121 agreed to retain in the by-laws the privilege to members of being represented in the rooms by powers of attorney.

BONDS AND STOCKS.

Governments were dull and feverish most of the day, and up to 3 o'clock the whole list was weak and declining. Upon money becoming plenty at seven o'clock, however, there was a reaction of ⅛@⅜ per cent. from the lowest point. Most of the sales at the Board were in '67s. The investment demand continues good, and interior orders are large. Coupons: 1881,111¾@112; do. '62, 112¼@112¾; do. '64, 108¾@108¾; do. '65, 109⅛@109¼; new do., 108@108¼; do. '67, 108¾@108½; do. '68, 108½@108¾. Ten-Forties, 106⅞@107.

State bonds advancing and freely dealt with; Missouris, 87½; old Tennessees, 68@69; new Tennessees, 67¾@68; new North Carolinas, 62½@63; Virginias, 57½@58; Louisiana Levee bonds, Sixes, 67¼@68¼; do. Eights, 77½@78¾.

The Railway market this morning was feverish and unsettled. Prices opened at about closing rates of yesterday and advanced on western shares ½@1 per cent. at the regular board, when the Eastern list declined and the market became quite irregular. Early in the evening the market was dull, but acquired firmness; and before the close of day this had run into activity and buoyancy, with a sharp advance of 1@2 per cent. The most active stocks were Rock Island, Pacific Mail, Wabash, New York Central, Fort Wayne, Michigan Southern and Northwestern. Mariposa certificates were active and higher, on the report that the mills commenced running on the first instant. Short interest in general market has been materially increased within the last few days, which, in connection with the increased ease in money, is encouraging bulls to make further onward.

Rivers and Weather.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 12.—River falling with ten feet and six inches of water in the Canal. The weather is clear and cold.

RIVER NEWS.

The rain storm which set in on Monday afternoon was succeeded by a heavy fall of snow on Monday night, and yesterday the weather was cold and disagreeable, and in the afternoon and evening it was freezing pretty sharply. The thermometer at 4 p. m. was down to 30, and the wind seemed to be veering around to the west. G. A. predicts that we are about to have some cold weather, and it is to be hoped that his predictions will be verified.

The river was still swelling last evening with sixteen and a half feet in the channel.

The Kenton will lay over until Friday.

The Bayard, Capt, Moore, is the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, leaving at noon.

We have no further particulars in regard to the Silver Cloud disaster. She was insured on three-fourths of her valuations to the amount of seven thousand five hundred dollars, as follows: $1,250 in the Pittsburgh, $1,250 in the Allegheny, and $5,000 in Cincinnati offices. She was owned by Capt. Conway, James Rees and others.

The Arkansas (Capt. Shaw's new boat) left New Orleans for Arkansas river on the 6th inst.

The Kenton arrived yesterday forenoon from Portsmouth with a very good trip. She would have been in sooner had she not have been delayed by the darkness and snow storm on Monday night.

The Bayard was also somewhat behind time, having been delayed by the same causes.

The Julia No. 2 departed for Zanesville last night.

Business was almost wholly suspended at the landing yesterday, owing to the extremely miserable condition of the wharf. There was but very little teaming done; indeed, it was nearly as much as a horse could do to haul an empty dray.

The New York, from Louisville, and the Armadillo, from New Orleans, are among the first boats due.

The Messenger, Captain Jesse Dean, will be the first boat out for New Orleans, as will also, the Maggie Hays, Captain B. C. Martin, for St. Louis.

The Glendale is en route from St. Louis to Pittsburgh, with a big trip, including 600 tons iron ore.

The R. R. Hudson, Capt. Russell, is announced for Cincinnati and Louisville.

The Bellevernon, which boat arrived on Saturday, made the round trip from Pittsburgh to New Orleans and back in thirty-three days, besides losing a good deal of time by fog. Will Courier make a note of this?

—The Camelia, Nashville to Pittsburgh, left Cincinnati on Sunday evening.

—The Lorella was expected to arrive at Cincinnati on Sunday night.

—The Sallie left Louisville for Pittsburgh on Saturday. She received a large lot of mules from the Dexter for Wheeling, and this city.

—The old habit of taking two months or a month and a half to run from Pittsburgh to New Orleans seems to be in vogue again. The Wauanita passed twenty-five days out from Pittsburgh, having left that smoky city on December 11th. She delivered her freight there under a protest entered at Memphis.—Louisville Courier.

—Capt. Williams, of Madison, has sold one-half of the steamer J. L. Graham to Lloyd Rowan for $2,300. She is now on her way to the Wabash.

—U. S. Marshal Slack sold the steamer Jonas Powell, on Friday last, at Point Pleasant. A. P. McAllister was the purchaser at $2,150—about $25,000 per dozen.

—The Wheeling Intelligencer says: Deputy United States Marshal Irwin has attached, one hundred and sixty-six or seven barrels of petroleum, taken from the wreck of the Ingomor by the steamer James Rees. Salvage was demanded, but the claim was resisted: hence the attachment to enforce payment.

—Captain James Greer, a few weeks since, advertised the stern-wheeler Pine Bluff for sale in the Enquirer, and a purchaser was found in the person of a Dr. Hayes, of Louisville. Hayes came here, looked at the boat, and agreed to give a deed to certain property in Louisville valued at $12,000 for her. This was a big price for the boat, and the Greers, father and son, were naturally anxious to consummate the sale as soon as possible. Mr. Alexander Greer, the father of Captain James Greer, went to Louisville, was shown the property, and being satisfied of its value, returned here, and hastened to that city with the boat, where she was to be delivered to her new owner. The exchange was duly made, and Havs immediately after getting possession of the boat, steamed down the river, and has not since been heard of. The melancholy part of the affair is, that it was soon discovered that Hayes had no title to the property, and the deed given the Greers is, of course, of no value. This, we believe, is the most extraordinary instance on record of the practice of the confidence game.—Cin. Enquirer.

—A Louisville telegram to the Cincinnati Commercial, under date of Sunday, says: The Silver Moon, heavily laden with cotton, in coming out of the canal about 4 o'clock this evening, was carried by the current out on the abutment at the head of the canal, where she lodged and was unable to work off. At dark she was still hard aground, with some 4 inches of water on her starboard deck, and Captain Pink Varble with the towboat Falls Pilot and two barges was alongside, lightening her off. The Tigress, with a tow of coal, passed down over the falls. The Sallie left for Pittsburgh.

—The House Committee of the Alabama Legislature have reported in favor of opening the Cahaba river to navigation.

—Cataract Island, in the upper Mississippi, near St. Anthony, was sold on execution by the Sheriff, last Saturday, it brought $3,000, something of an advance on the first cost. Cataract Island was originally entered by Beecher Morgan, January 28, 1854, at a total expense of $3,50

—During the past three months 180 steamboats and 66 barges have been enrolled and licensed at the St. Louis Custom House. Total tunnage of boats, 81,236; of barges, 27,615. Total tunnage, 108,851. The total enrolled tunnage on the Western rivers for the year 1868 was: 1,263 steamboats, of 351,671 tunnage, and 838 barges, of 106,168 tunnage. Total number of vessels, 2,392; tunnage, 481,217.

DISEASED LUNGS.

There is no doubt whatever that diseases of the lungs, or ulcers of whatever sort, on any of the internal organs may be, and are frequently cured, and a complete condition of health established. If the elaborative functions, of which the stomach is the primary and most important one, are restored to a condition to do the repairing of the human system, ulcers or sores, whether upon the lungs, the liver, the kidneys or the bowels, or upon the legs, as is frequently the case, can be made to heal, and a complete standard of health re-established

We have frequently seen these results from the use of Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, a pleasant and agreeable medicine, which will ripen up and carry out of the animal economy all effete and used up material. Dr. K. says that he has known the most distressing an harassing coughs, whose vibrations would threaten to shake the whole constitution to pieces, removed in the course of a few days In long standing cases of consumption, or of other sometimes fatal, but always troublesome and annoying maladies, known as catarrh, chronic bronchitis, trachitis or pharyngitis, it is a wonderful alleviating medicine in the former and a sure cure in he latter disease.

DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE IS ENRICHED BY SOME OF THE MOST VALUABLE PLANTS AND HERBS KNOWN TO BE USEFUL AND CURATIVE IN ALL DETERIORATED STATES OF THE HUMAN BLOOD, and whilst it adds to its plasma, it at the same time stimulates, gently but effectively, the skin, the kidneys, the liver and the glandular system to sufficient action to enable the body to take on healthful action and eradicate the disease. The sick and afflicted should bear in mind the virtues of this great medicine, and if those who are sufficiently alive to the importance of health, will resort to it in the beginning of a cough or cold, there would be no falling into declines and rapid consumption, hopelessly incurable and so most surely fatal.

GOLD closed yesterday in New York at 135⅛@135½.

EDWARD MCPHERSON, Clerk of the House, Washington, D. C., is actively engaged upon the Life and Times of THADDEUS STEVENS, for early publication, and will be glad to receive copies of letters of the deceased on political topics from 1828 to 1868, and any personal incidents illustrating any point in his career, or any feature of his character. Original letters or other documents, if sent to him, will be returned after use.

WRITING yesterday from memory, we accepted the apparent statement of the Govenor's Message as correct, to the effect that neither the bonds of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, nor of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad Company, held by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, draw interest. This is a mistake. The bonds of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company bear five per cent. interest, the same as the new bonds of the State itself. The bonds of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad Company do not draw interest till, from and after the year 1872.

It is, therefore, possible that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company bonds can be so sold as to cancel an equal amount of the bonds of the State; but a peremptory auction sale would hardly produce that result. Besides, if the Sinking Fund Commissioners had cash in hand to invest, we do not see what better it could do than to buy the very bonds it is now proposed to sell, unless they should buy bonds of the Commonwealth.

We see no reason to modify the statement we made touching the bonds of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad Company. Their present value is comparatively small. A few years hence they may be at par.

THE SUFFRAGE IN CONGRESS.

Members of Congress, from the several States, are at present chosen by electors in each State "having the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature." (Constitution, Art. I., Sec. II.) Under this clause the colored race, not having the local or State right of suffrage, are excluded from all voice in the election of Congressmen in many of the States. Nor does the second clause of the second article, providing for Presidential Electors, nor any other part of that instrument, impair the right of each State "to appoint in such manner as the Legislature may direct" its proper number of Electors. It follows, therefore, that the suffrage for these Federal purposes cannot be impartially conferred upon all citizens, irrespective of race, without a further amendment of the Constitution.

Much of the present opposition to Impartial Suffrage would be avoided by the limitation of the right to these Federal purposes, leaving each State to regulate its local elections according to its own discretion. There can be no doubt at all of the duty of the Nation to recognize the entire political equality of all its citizens for all national purposes. There are very grave doubts as to the duty of the Federal power to intervene in State affairs by prescribing the conditions of suffrage therein for purely local State purposes. All reasonable men will agree that Congress should have the right to prescribe the qualifications of its own electors. Very many of the same men will agree upon the duty of the several States to extend the same equality to all citizens in their own elections. But many of the States in fact deny this equality, and are likely to persist in such denial for years to come. It is now proposed to disregard their objections, overriding the discretion of the States by uniform regulations under the Federal authority, making the suffrage impartial as much in State as in National elections. This proposition will command a much less general support. In behalf of State rights there will be not a few citizens who will incline to defer the present indulgence of their philanthropy.

In this view, the new Constitutional Article and accompanying bill, introduced by Mr. BOUTWELL in the House on Monday, are likely to encounter much resistance. If they pass Congress, the Amendatory Article cannot secure ratification by the requisite three-fourths of the State Legislatures. But, so amended as to relate exclusively to the Federal suffrage, we think these measures would obtain a general acceptation. It is therefore worthy of consideration whether it be wise to peril, and probably lose, so much of a really attainable good, in nugatory efforts to accomplish more than the situation admits of.

The circumstances which justified the Nation in requiring an enlarged and impartial suffrage in the reconstruction of the late rebel States, are not found to exist as to States which have maintained their State existence unimpaired and their Federal relations unbroken. These States still retain the same Constitutions which we have once approved as Republican in form, but must at once amend not a few of them, if the new Federal Article now proposed be adopted. Was our original approval of those State Constitutions subject to the right of requiring their subsequent modification, to conform to the changing aspects of Federal policy? If so, it will be logically difficult to deny the corresponding rights of Oregon, New Jersey, and Ohio to modify their respective assents to the joint constitutional compact. Unless this right of modification be all on the Federal side, it is easy to foresee that we may be betrayed into conflicts, between State and Federal rights, of the most embarrassing and critical character. We prefer that all these questions should be avoided by confining our action relative to the suffrage, to such measures as rest clearly within the Federal authority.

THE DIFFUSION OF KNOWLEDGE.

Appropriate and just were the congratulatory terms in which the officers of the "Young Men's Mercantile Library and Mechanic's Institute," of this city, presented their statement of its affairs to the members at the annual meeting on Monday evening. Our young men have reason to point with pride to the success which has attended their efforts to establish, upon a permanent and flourishing basis, this most meritorious institution. Nor have they—nor we, nor all citizens, who duly estimate the vast influence of this organization upon the instruction and upon the progress in culture of every useful and commendable taste in the popular mind—any less reason for confessing the high obligations which our citizens owe, to those enlightened and public-spirited gentlemen whose time and labors have been generously given, without stint as without price, to the promotion of a cause bearing, indirectly, the most remunerative material fruits.

That the "Library and Institute" has now attained its twenty-one years majority, in the present enjoyment of a marked prosperity, and with the undimmed promise for a yet more vigorous career of public usefulness, is due in no small degree, to the heartily consenting efforts of gentlemen whose work has always been a labor of love. To these, that reward will be still sweeter, than the grateful tribute of their fellow-members and citizens, which lays in their own justly satisfactory contemplation of the condition and prospects of the institution. Specifying no individuals, it is a duty to declare that each and all of those gentlemen, whose disinterested exertions for the mental instruction and moral improvement of the people, and especially of the young men of these cities, have thus succeeded so well, merit the reputation of public benefactors.

The Library and Institute enter upon the maturer period of their existence under the brightest auspices for a prosperous and influential future. With a membership steadily although slowly increasing, the Treasury solvent for its current demands, and a well-selected library of nearly nine thousand volumes, they enjoy, also, the kindly regard of all classes and all denominations in this community. Their Lecture Committees have contributed largely to securing the public good-will by a highly judicious discharge of their own special duties. The present year will also witness the completion of an edifice for the Association, which will include the needful shelter and facilities for every department included among its objects, and which will be architecturally an honorable achievement for the Association and an ornament to our city.

We take pleasure in heartily seconding the appeal of the Directors for public encouragement and support. Their membership should be made to include every young man in these cities who would, in a well-stored and well-balanced mind, possess the highest qualification for a reputable and profitable career through life. And, whether the Association invites public support for its library and lectures, or reveals its needs for material aid in the indispensable work of building a Hall, for the fostering home of popular knowledge in these cities, the appeal cannot be disregarded without an ultimate public loss.

RAILWAY FACILITIES.

Upon the new Councils of this city devolves the duty of dealing with the overtures recently submitted by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Connellsville Railroad Company for additional accommodations for their respective traffics. That the whole subject will be considered by them in all its aspects, present and prospective, before making a definite decision, we cannot doubt.

The Councils are bound to consult primarily the rights and interests of the citizens, whose representatives they are, but not so as to forget that the citizens and the railway companies whose lines centre here, have interests in common.

We have already distinctly stated that neither of the propositions of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company comes up to our conceptions of the case; though its first proposition comes nearer thereto than the last.

A passenger depot, devoted to local business, is urgently needed; and no concessions ought to be made to the Company that does not include provision therefor. A number of the way passenger trains arrive and depart almost simultaneously with through trains; and the consequent crowd in the Union depot is objectionable, and must become more objectionable with the increase of business. Another source of discomfort exists in the railway tracks that have to be crossed in going to and from the depot. Inconvenience and peril are here combined. A local depot, located west of the Elevator, is the only complete remedy for this evil and ought to be insisted on.

The business of the city requires a new, commodious and substantial freight depot, and so located as not to necessitate the obstruction of the streets by trains arriving and departing. This implies that the warehouse on the Point shall be dispensed with, and the track through Liberty street taken up.

In addition to these particulars, we still insist that all through freight trains, west and east, on the Fort Wayne line, the right to go around the city and not across it. No hardship will be put upon the railway company by enforcing this arrangement, and and the relief to the city would be very great.

Nor ought streets, or parts thereof, to be vacated by Councils, until these or such other stipulations as may be thought needful, shall be complied with. At least, a abundant security ought to be taken that any agreement, touching these matters, will be duly fulfilled on the part of the company; before concessions are granted.

In addition, it may be found that a consideration in money ought to be paid by the Company. What is right, in this direction, ought to be insisted on. But we incline to the plan of securing the amplest accommodations for the business of our people, with the fewest impediments in the highway, rather than to the idea of securing the largest practical sum in money.

The Connellsville Railroad Company wants first, the right to cross the city, and, second, access to the Union Depot. That Company has our warmest sympathies. It had them when they were of substantial advantage to it, and has them yet, in undiminished vigor.

If the Councils shall determine not to abridge the present occupancy of the streets by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, they will hardly be able to find a valid reason for refusing the application of the Connellsville Company. Both Companies ought to be served alike; for both are subsidiary, though in unequal degrees, to the prosperity of the city.

The access of the Connellsville Railroad Company to the union depot is a matter over which the Councils have no control, but in respect to which they can exert an agency, provided they proceed in a friendly manner towards both sides. It would certainly be legitimate to make, if possible, such access one of the considerations for granting the favors which the Pennsylvania Railroad Company seeks.

The members of Councils, having this matter in charge, are gentlemen of experience and discernment, and will unquestionable exert their influence to promote the best interests of the city and of the railway companies.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

We learn that there is to be a vigorous resistance to the new FISK programme for the absorption of the C. & P. Railway into the "Erie" system. At the instance, we presume, of the protesting friends of the former management, an injunction was yesterday granted in one of the Ohio Courts, at Cleveland, restraining the new organization from taking any further proceedings, relative to the property of the Company, under the startling programme of which we gave the details yesterday morning. A Receiver was also appointed, by the same Court, to take charge of the affairs and property of the corporation. This is, we suppose, the initial step in a series of litigations.

We remarked yesterday upon the currency of a rumor that the "Erie" clique were making a push to secure the control of the Fort Wayne stock. We have now to say that these efforts, if actually in progress, are not likely to succeed. The eleven and a half millions of stock in that road, and the twelve and a half millions of its bonds, by a peculiar feature of its charter, are equally the qualification for voting at the general meetings of the corporation. If the Erie clique have loose cash enough to buy the more than twelve millions needed thus to control the corporation, they could not find the sellers. The stock and bonds are both held in blocks, by parties entirely out of the markets, with the exception of some two or three millions of the former. These holders generally are not men who would favor, or could be used for, the schemes of the recent raiders upon the C. & P. Road. The control of the Fort Wayne, therefore seems to be entirely out of their possible reach.

BEYOND THE MISSISSIPPI. By Albert D. Richardson. Hartford: American Publishing Company.

This book seems to be quite as good if not better, than most of the high class subscription books now in the market, and the subject is one of such general interest in these days of Pacific railways and overland mails, Indian wars and magic cities, that almost every one has some personal or indirect reasons for being well informed about it. Mr. Richardson, the author, is not unknown to fame, and his former book, (one about the war,) Field, Dungeon and Escape, has had many interested readers. In the present work he gives us graphic descriptions of adventures and reliable statistics and facts concerning the Prairies, Mountains and Pacific Coast. This should be enough to make the book sell well, but it is not all, for the volume contains more than two hundred fine engravings taken, some from photographs and some from original sketches by Nast, Bierstadt, Stephens, Darley and others from amongst the favorite American artists. If these pictures were taken and published separately from the valuable letter press, they ought to, and would sell, for nearly as much as the full price of the book. In short, the volume will ornament any library shelf and is at the same time a good book to have read and to have at hand for reference. The worthy young lady who has procured the agency for it will soon call on Pittsburghers and solicit subscriptions for it.

DOUBTFUL NEWS.

If TOM ALLEN and WILLIAM DAVIS chose to illustrate how near brute creation man can approach, in a friendly fight for purse and championship of the P. R. at St. Louis, we presume we have no right to find any particular fault with them; but we cannot imagine how the Associate Press Agent at that point magnified the chivalrous combat into a thing of such huge proportions as to demand for it the publication of a detailed and lengthy account in all the papers of the country. His spirit of enterprise may be commendable, but in sending the disgusting particulars of the brutal exhibition he laid his judgment and good taste open to criticism. We may be curious in our notions, but we don't want to burden our columns with such news, and feel that our readers lose little even if they are deprived of the pleasure of perusing, before breakfast this morning, the minutest particulars of how two human beings, made to the image of their Creator, hammered away and abused each other's body in the most approved and scientific manner, till life was ready to depart from both had any willing angel been found to bear their souls to eternity for judgment. The extended report to which we have reference, is worded in language high toned, classical and polite if not exquisitely poetical as for example:

Round 18—Tom went for his man in earnest, and landed one in his bread basket, smiling as usual at William, when the latter went under.

Round 18—Davis' mug was terribly lacerated, and was bleeding at every pore. He tried to smile at Thomas, but Tom couldn't see it, and led it with his right, which resulted in Davis going to grass.

We profess to be somewhat acquainted with the anatomical structure of man, but where to locate the "bread basket" with any degree of certainty we hardly know, and it does not strike us as any very remarkable fact that "William tried to 'smile' but Thomas couldn't see it,"—it does seem singular, however, that William should have made any effort in that direction under the circumstances. We are told about "rights" and "lefts" landing home on the "conk," "knowledge-box," "peeper," "mug," "potato grinder," and many other parts of the body, all being designated in strictest accordance with the vocabulary of the scientific bruiser, and located above the belt somewhere.

We again assert that we may be fastidious in our journalistic notions, but we can't help feeling that such trash better adorns the waste basket than the columns of a journal making the least pretention to common decency or respectability. It is not the kind of news we like to pay for, but we have the privilege of using or not using according to our own judgment and discrimination, and what we may reject may prove acceptable in other quarters. In this instance we unhesitatingly cut from our budget of telegrams the long drawn out report of the brutal and disgusting St. Louis prize fight, which the Associate Press Agent at that point had the industry and enterprise to prepare and forward to the exclusion, perhaps, of much more important matters.

PLAN FOR A POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

The recent Special Report, from the Postoffice Department, suggests a plan, the principle features of which are as follows:

First. The establishment of postal telegraph offices in connection with the Post-offices in every city and village of five thousand inhabitants and over, at railroad stations and at such other places on the lines of the wires as the telegraph business of the country may from time to time demand.

Second. The prepayment of all telegraphic messages by stamps, and their reception at every postal telegraph office, Postoffice, and street letter box.

Third. The transmission of messages by telegraph between postal telegraph offices by contract with a telegraph company; provided that no bid shall be received in which the rate of messages for twenty words or figures or less exceeds twenty cents for each message, and five cents for each added five words or figures or less, for each and every five hundred miles or fractional part thereof, to which is to be added five cents for postage and delivery.

Fourth. The special immediate free delivery of every message by carriers within the limits of free delivery of letters from any Postoffice, or within one mile of every postal telegraph office, and the delivery at special rates beyond such limits; provided, however, that messages directed to be transmitted by night shall not be delivered until the next morning.

Fifth. The transmission of these messages by mail without extra charge to or from the nearest postal telegraph office when received at or directed to any place not having such an office.

Sixth. The transmission by telegraph of postal money orders, the transmission of the original message in special cases, by mail, priority in transmission, the repetition of messages and delivery to the sender. The transmission of messages where the whole amount of the rate has not been prepaid, and the transmission of messages between the largest cities by autograph instruments or in cipher.

Seventh. The forwarding the originals of all messages not transmitted by mail to the Dead Letter Office, and the delivery of all messages received through a recording instrument, with the copy thereof, if any is made.

Eighth. Such other provisions as are from time to time required to carry out the objects of the act and to perfect the system.

Johnson's Nominations.

There is little doubt that no confirmations of any of Andrew Johnson's nominations will take place between now and the 4th of March, 1869. Upon this the Republican Senators seem to have fixedly resolved. The precedents are all in that direction. Strong as they were before, the reasons for adhering to them are indefinitely stronger to-day. In 1845, after James K. Polk's election to the presidency, a number of excellent men were nominated for office by President Tyler, but the Senate refused to confirm them on the ground that it would be an outrage upon the incoming Administration. This was Colonel Benton's view. The rule has been observed ever since, especially when a Whig or Republican President succeeded a Democratic President, and vice verse. Now Andrew Johnson is the John Tyler of our times, and the same attempt made in 1845 is repeated in 1869. Twenty-four years have only increased its injustice. Many important and some good nominations will fail in consequence of this well known Senatorial determination, but as it will be exceptionless none can complain.

A COMPANY in Urbana have purchased 200 acres in Coshocton county, under which lies a huge bank of pure Cannel Coal. It will prove a fortune to the purchasers.

OHIO NEWS.

SOME seventy-eight persons have recently joined the M. E. Church at Jacobsburg, Belmont county.

A PACK of six or seven wolves is roaming about Erie county, which has, so far, defied all attempts at capture.

IT is expected that at least three new furnaces and mills will be erected in Youngstown during the coming year.

A SON of Mr. Weurtz, of Centerville, Huron county, was thrown from a wagon and instantly killed on Christmas.

A LITTLE girl, two years old, daughter of Mr. Henry Smith, of Chillicothe, fell into a kettle of boiling lard a few days since, and died in three hours.

ON last Wednesday night week the dry house and about 12,000 feet of lumber, belonging to the Buckeye Planing Mills at New Philadelphia, was destroyed by fire.

A MAN named Patrick Dugan was killed at Youngstown, on the 19th ult., by being caught between a car and the timbers of the bridge crossing the canal at Brown, Bonnel & Co.'s rolling mill.

NEARLY all the citizens of Carrolton have signed a petition asking the town council of that place to pass an ordinance to entirely prohibit the sale of all intoxicating liquors within the corporation.

A FATAL accident occurred in Letonia, a short time since, resulting in the death of one man and severe injury of another, by the explosion of a barrel of oil which took fire from the lamps in their caps while they were drawing oil.

SAMUEL R. WADSWORTH, formerly of Akron, was fatally shot last week near Athens, Alabama, by a father and son named McKibbon, whose near female relative it is alleged Wadsworth had seduced. The assailants also were ex-Ohioans.

A SHORT time since a young man named Wilson attempted to pass between a train of cars standing at the Painesville, Ohio, depot, in order to reach a passenger train beyond. While he was between the cars the train started, throwing him under the wheels, which passed over his body, mutilating it in a horrid manner.

BENJ. F. GREEN, a man about twenty-five years of age, and a resident of Pitt township, this county, was killed on the 23d inst., in the following manner: He was accidentally caught in the crank at Holmes' mill, at which place he was working, and so horribly mutilated that death almost instantly ensued. An inquest was held on his remains by our able and efficient Coroner, Levi Shultz, and the following verdict rendered: "The deceased came to his death by being accidentally caught in the crank of the mill."—Upper Sandusky Union.

AN old couple, Mr. and Mrs. James Cooper, residing near Cedarville, aged respectively eighty-five and eighty-nine years, died at their home on the 28th inst., a calm and quiet death, and within forty minutes of each other. The old lady, Catharine Cooper, died first, and at sight of her lifeless body her husband grew faint and life weary and passed away as melts a summer's cloud. They had been married more than half a century, and resided thirty-five years in the vicinity of Cedarville. They came from South Carolina, were respectable and respected and had a very extended circle of friends and acquaintances.—Xenia Gazette.

ON Thursday night of last week, the office of Camfield and Geeseman, at Fremont, was entered by a burglar, an opening made in the door over the lock, by means of a chisel which was evidently stolen from some stone mason, a charge of powder inserted, and the lock blown off. The hammers used were taken from a blacksmith shop near by. The burglar obtained but very little for his pains, there being only about seven dollars in cash in it. The amount was, however, appropriated. To show his disgust at the meagre amount of money obtained a sheet of paper from the deck, and expressed his feelings thusly: "You old dog. Why did'nt you put up a sign that thay was no money in the safe, and thin I wouldn't cracked it."—Plymouth Advertiser.

WEST VIRGINIA NEWS.

THE Morgantown Constitution has discontinued for want of support.

THE Fairmont West Virginian says: Bill Clayton, a lunatic, who has been for some time confined in the county jail at this place, escaped on Sunday last, and all efforts to recapture him were unavailing. He is still at large.

FROM the Wheeling Intelligencer we learn that on Thursday evening last, as the steamer Storm No. 3 was towing the hull of the Minneapolis to Pittsburgh, the clerk of the former, Mr. W. L. Hamilton, of Rochester, Pa., fell overboard and was drowned.

THE Wheeling Intelligencer says: Mr. John Bumberger, of this city, left his residence on the 14th ult., and has not been heard from since. We are informed that for some time previous he had exhibited marked signs of mental aberration. Any information of him will be thankfully received by his wife. Address: "Margaret Bumberger, Wheeling, W. Va."

THE Parkersburg Times says: On Saturday evening last the step daughter of Mr. John Taylor, who resides near the outer depot, at Parkersburg, came to a sudden death by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of Mr. Taylor. He had taken the gun in his hand for the purpose of cleaning it, when, dropping something on the floor, the little girl stooped to pick up the article, while Mr. Taylor also reached for it. At this moment the gun slipped, and in catching it, the discharge took place, lodging the contents in the neck, face and head of the child, killing her instantly.

A COOPERATIVE BUILDING SOCIETY in New York, composed of 800 members, is established, under the following plan of operations: Every member takes two shares of $1,000 each, upon which he pays $1 a week. At the end of every month $2,000 is thus collected, when the members draw lots for the privilege of using the money in building a house. The winner then has the funds loaned to him for the purpose, and gives the society a bond on the building for the amount. Until the house becomes finished, he pays at the rate of five per cent. or $10 a month, and after completion, at the rate of ten per cent., or $20 a month, toward liquidating the debt, free from interest. When the $2,000 becomes thus returned, the mortgage is released and the borrower owns the house. If a member wishes a larger loan than $2,000, say $5,000, he pays subscriptions in proportion, say $2 50 a week, from the time of his entrance, and liquidates his debt in proportionate repayments. It is asserted that lots in abundance can be had on the outskirts of Brooklyn for $200, and a good frame building can be erected for $1,800. Another society is established on a different basis. When $2,000 is collected the sum is put up at auction to the members, who bid for the use of it, sometimes paying as much as $700 premium. The buyer gives a mortgage for the original sum and the premium, and pays back the aggregate in ten equal annual payments without interest. A Co operative Building Lot Society, organized in connection with the Building Societies, buys land in the suburbs by the acre, and distributes it to members at cost. A subscription of 50 cents a week entitles a member to land costing $250.

AFFECTIONS OF THE KIDNEYS AND URINARY ORGANS.

Diseases of this nature are found to exist in persons of all ages. Children, and even infants, are subject to unnatural secretions of the Kidneys, and pain in voiding the urine, as well as adult's. Especially is this the case with aged and infirm persons, and those whose habits are sedentary. Nor is this a matter of surprise when we take into consideration the delicate nature of the kidneys, and the important functions they have to perform. All the superfluous, unhealthy and poisonous waste of the system must pass through the kidneys, thence into the bladder, and passes off with the urin; consequently any obstruction in the kidneys, that will prevent these poisonous particles from being thrown off, will be followed by disease of these organs themselves and more or less derangement of the whole system. Among the symptoms of such derangement are the following: Deep seated pain in the small of the back, sometimes extending around the loins in the abdomen, or a dull heavy, numbing pain, extending from the back down the lower extremity of the right or left limb to the inner part of the thigh; great difficulty is experienced in voiding the urine, feverish skin, headache, nervous and general debility, &c., &c.

In the removal and cure of such diseases, no remedy has yet been discovered that equals DR. SARGENT'S DIURETIC OR BACHELOR PILLS. They have been used extensively for upwards of forty years, and have given perfect satisfaction in every case, and are highly recommended by all who have used them. For sale by all Druggists.

THE MACHINE, CALLED MAN,

Is a very complicated and delicate one, and is more liable to get out of order, and much more difficult to repair, than any combination of wheels, and cranks, and levers, made by the hands of man. As a rule, it is tinkered too much, and badly tinkered at that. It is often calomenized, narcotized, depleted, and otherwise misused, when all that it really needs is a wholesome tonic and restorative like HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS to put it in proper trim and keep it so. The stomach is shamefully maltreated. In the first place, the food which its juices are intended to dissolve, is too frequently thrown into it hastily, and in a half masticated condition, in which state the gastric acid cannot properly act upon it. The result is dyspepsia. The patient grows in the doctor, and finding the digestive organs weak and the bowels inert, he proceeds to weaken and paralyze still more with drastic purgatives. These failing—as they always do—to produce a salutary change, he tells the invalid that medical science can do no more for him. This, with all due deference, is a mistake,—one of those mistakes which Talleyrand said were tantamount to crimes. What the dyspeptic needs is invigoration. Strengthen the stomach with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, and the stomach will strengthen every other part of the human machine, and make it, in common parlance, as good as new. Upon the state of the digestion depends, in a measure, the condition of the whole system. Now, the Bitters are the most admirable tonic known. They consist of the finest vegetable invigorants and restoratives, combined with an unadulterated stimulant. The dyspeptic needs nothing else to effect a cure, except a light, nutritious diet, and a fair amount of exercise. Even in the absence of these last mentioned accessories, the tonic and alterative properties of the preparation will work wonders, enabling the dyspeptic to digest inferior fare with comparative ease, and to maintain a good habit of body, in spite of the drawbacks of a sedentary occupation.

THE SOUND OF THE LUNGS.

One of the most accurate ways of determining whether the lungs are in a healthy or diseased condition, is by means of listening to the respiration. To those experienced in this practice it becomes as plain an index to the state of the lungs, and is as well known to the operator as are the voices of his most intimate acquaintances. The belief that long standing coughs, and diseases of the lungs upon which they are dependent, are incurable, are fast becoming obsolete. One great advantage to be gained from this advance in medical knowledge is the earlier application of those who become afflicted with those diseases to some one competent to afford relief. The error which had taken hold of the public mind in regard to the curability of consumption, or rather non-curability, is fast becoming obliterated, and it is well that it should be so, not that persons should lose that salutary fear which would make them apply for a timely remedy, but that all might be induced to use remedies while there is any hope. It is the delay in these cases that fills us with apprehension and alarm, for if every one would make timely application of DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE in the beginning of a cold or cough, few cases would go so far as to become irremediable.

Sold at the Doctor's great Medicine Store, No. 140 Wood street. WILL SHORTLY REMOVE TO HIS NEW STORE, NO. 16 LIBERTY STREET, SECOND DOOR FROM ST. CLAIR.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, January 12, 1868.

The gold market remained steady today at 135⅜@135½, and closing at 135⅜, dull. The increased demand for sight exchange on Europe has led parties to larger shipments of specie, and a consequent increase in the demand for cash gold. Shipments are now continued at the rate of seven hundred thousand dollars per week, which would soon relieve the market of all the surplus gold, and reduce the balance in the banks to about seventeen millions before the Treasury will pay out any further interest. Speculation in gold is very tame, and, although few will believe in lower prices for some time to come, the probabilities is that not much above the present rate will be paid until the end of February or just before the opening of navigation.

Government bonds were dull to-day, and declined another ¼ per cent. for the new issues. Money will command a better interest elsewhere than in government bonds at high prices bought at near par, they are cheap, but at 9 per cent. above par will scarcely yield more than 7 per cent.

Stocks are dull, lower and on the eve of a heavy decline for want of bonifide investors; nearly all the stocks now carried in Wall street, are held by speculators, and the nearer we approach the usnal Febuary money stringency, the more these speculators get frightened at any heavy decline. Express shares are better.

Money easier. Business inactive.

—Says the Chicago Tribune, of Monday: Money is not plentiful in this market yet, but there is every indication that it will become so within the next ten or twelve days. Regular customers of banks find but little difficulty now in getting what they ask for. The street rates—for shaving paper of parties who have not these banking facilities that entitle them to accommodation—are yet on the high tariff established several weeks ago, and 2 and 2½ per cent per month is asked in most instances, though much less has been done at these rates during the past week than during the week previous. The money lenders have reaped a rich, and, in some cases, a usurious harvest during the past two months, but for the present it is nearly over.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, January 12, 1868.

There was but comparatively little done in oil to-day, though the market continues firm and excited, and prices are still tending upward. The sensitiveness noted for some time past still continues, and there is an uneasiness manifested in regard to the future in consequence of the excited condition of the market at present; prices have got to such a point that speculators are timid about buying, and with the experience of the past sixty days, there seems to be an utter aversion to selling, especially to what is termed selling short. And it may not be out of place to state that it is the "short sellers" who have been buying the great proportion of the oil that has been sold for some weeks past, and, consequently, they contributed much toward swelling prices, and bringing about the excitement, which has prevailed for some time. This being the case, those who are "long" feel very comfortable, and, as a general thing, there is no disposition manifested on the part of holders to sell, as they feel that by holding off they will be able to realize still higher prices.

CRUDE.

The Crude market continues firm and excited, and prices are still tending upward. Sale 500 bbls spot at 15; and $200 was paid for the privilege of placing 1,000 bbls between January and June at 15¼. There was a sale yesterday for a future delivery at 15½, but which for some cause or other was not reported. Quotations may be freely given at 15 to 15½, according to gravity and time of delivery.

REFINED

The Refined market was also comparatively quiet to-day, though the market is firm and excited, and prices are still advancing. Sale of 1,000 bbls each April to June at 35; two "lines" of 500 each January and Febuary at 33; and a third for same months at 33¼. We are cognizant of an offer to buy April to December at 36, and, in the absence of sales, Januarv to December may be quoted at 34½ to 35. We have another word to say in regard to that New York dispatch. While it is possible that exporters may not have paid 33 for spot oil on Saturday in New York, somebody did, and it has advanced from a quarter to a since half.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, January 12, 1869.

The inclement weather has a tendency to retard business which at best is nothing to brag of, and what is worse still, there is but little prospect of any immediate improvement. The Pittsburgh Gazette.

"Kosher" and "Trefa."

The London Daily News of the 15th ult. brings up in its court calendar some curious facts in regard to Hebrew observance of Levitical law. One Moses Schott, a Jew butcher, complained of Rev. Dr. Adler, the chief rabbi of the Jews in the United Kingdom, that he had slandered him by charging that his meat was not "Kosher," or clean according to the law of Moses. In the personnel of the trial we, of course, are not at all interested, but some facts worthy of more general publication were brought out.

To be fit for the consumption of Jews, an animal must be slaughtered by having its throat cut. Then all the lite blood is allowed to run out. The slaughterer must be thoroughly conversant with all the laws and regulations that have traditionally been handed down with respect to the slaughter of cattle. He must also be a man of steady hand and great sensitiveness of touch so that he may feel the slightest notch on the slaughtering knife. He undergoes an examination before an ecclesiastical council. If he sustains that examination satisfactorily, he is a qualified slaughterer of cattle in that district over which the ecclesiastical authority extends. He is not qualified for all places. It is the custom when the slaughterer of cattle comes from abroad, bearing the certificate of a foreign rabbi, to submit his certificate to the inspection of the ecclesiastical authorities of the place where he intends to carry on business. It rests with those authorities to grant permission at once, or to require the slaughterer to undergo a fresh examination as to fitness, It also rests with them to postpone permission until full inquiries have been made as to why he left his former place, and as to whether there is anything against his mora, character. A man licensed to kill in London his license is not necessarily good for Chicago. When meat is pronounced "kosher" a seal is placed on it stating that it has been killed according to the traditional customs of the Jews.

One witness said: "I have to add another qualification. The slaughterer must be a man of high moral character. In opening the animal, he must make a thorough inspection of it, and if he finds it in any way diseased, he pronounces it trefa, or unclean." If these precautions against bad meat are lived up to, as we are assured they are, a Hebrew market is is the safest place to buy meat, especially in the unhealthy season of the year.

A commission of medical men and others in Paris, not long since, examined into the least cruel method of butchering, and the majority gave their verdict in favor of the Jewish method in preference to the practice of stunning animals. Since then an ingenious and humane experimenter has discovered a way of forcing air into the ears so as to produce almost instant, and, it is supposed, painless death.

Railway Matters.

We understand that a dispatch was received in this city, yesterday afternoon, announcing the sale of the Cincinnati and Zanesville Railroad, its track, stock and franchises, to the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company. This change in owners of the Cincinati and Zanesville Road has been anticipated for sometime past.

The proposed line of the Buffalo Southern railroad extends from Buffalo, sixty miles to Waterborough, a point on the Atlantic and Great Western, eight miles east of Jamestown, and from thence down the valley of the Connewongo, sixteen miles to Warren, Pennsylvania, where it connects with the Allegheny Valley railroad, which gives direct rail connection from Buffalo to Pittsburgh. The line then continues southeasterly to Clearfield in Clearfield county, Pennsylvania, distance from Buffalo one hundred and sixty miles. A railroad from Clearfield to Mount Union has already been completed, and is now in operation. Another road from Baltimore to Chambersburg is now in process of construction, and when completed the small gap between Chambersburg and Mount Union, is only to be filled. The Buffalo Southern Central, with its proposed connections, will make a direct railway route of about three hundred and thirty miles long from Buffalo to Baltimore. The company was organized last week, the directors chosen, and the Hon. W. F. Rogers, one of them, elected President.

Wine Drinking.

Gœthe tells the following story, which amusingly illustrates the capacity for drink of the Rhinelanders:

The Bishop of Mayence once delivered a sermon against drunkenness, and after painting, in the strongest colors, the evils of over-indulgence, concluded as follows: But the abuse of wine does not exclude its use, for it is written that wine rejoices the heart of man. Probably there is no one in my congregation who cannot drink four bottles of wine without feeling any disturbance of his senses; but if any man at the seventh or eighth bottle so forgets himself as to abuse and strike his wife and children and treat his best friends as enemies, let him look into his conscience, and in the future always stop at the sixth bottle. Yet, if after drinking eight, or even ten or twelve bottles, he can still take his Christian neighbor lovingly by the hand, and obey the orders of his spiritual and temporal superiors, let him thankfully take his modest draught. He must be careful, however, as to taking any more, for it is seldom that Providence gives any one the special grace to drink sixteen bottles at a sitting, as it has enabled me, its unworthy servant, to do, without either neglecting my duties or losing my temper.

LABOR IN CALIFORNIA.—It is asserted that in California any able-bodied man can get thirty dollars a month and his board, if willing to work. The Labor Exchange of San Francisco, an institution established last spring, to give gratuitous aid to immigrants and others seeking employment, continues to have more demands for all descriptions of labors than it can supply. The rates of wages are as follows, paid in gold: Skilled mechanics from $4 to $6 per day; farm hands, $30 to $40 per month and board; wood choppers $1 50 a cord; female domestics, $30 a month. Notwithstanding this high pay, it is stated that the supply of labor is not equal to the demand, and California would be hard pressed were it not for the Chinese. Many thousands of Chinamen, it is reported, are now employed on the railroads in progress. In vineyards, they are fast supplanting white labor. Without them the woollen manufacture would cease. In all agricultural work they are growing in favor. All the laundry business of the State, not performed by the household, is in their hands. They usually get about one dollar a day, finding themselves. For light work they are neat, docile and reliable. It is estimated that the number now in California is not less than sixty thousand, and that this number will rapidly increase when their civil rights are better protected. At present, a Chinaman may be robbed or murdered with impunity in the presence of one hundred of his countrymen, if no other evidence can be adduced to convict the culprit.

Identifying a Husband and Father.

The Reno (Cal.) Crescent relates the following: "A mother with four little children reached Reno from the States last Saturday, on her way to join her husband in Surprise Valley. The husband came to Reno the same evening, en route for San Francisco, to meet his wife. By accident he met one of his own children here on the street. He spoke to the child, asked her name, and when it was told him he said to the child, 'I am your father; go and show me where your mother is.' The mother was just conversing with a lady and telling her that her husband was a fair complexioned, smooth-faced man, when the little girl came rushing in, announcing the presence of the husband and father. The mother turned from her child to the man, but seeing a swarthy, full-bearded, long-haired 'hombre' before her, said: 'Why, child, that is not your father; it is an Indian.' But the 'Indian' insisted that he knew the lady, and finally convinced her that she knew him; but not until he went down town and had his hair and whiskers dressed did the poor woman seem entirely satisfied, and one of his children stoutly resisted acknowledging his paternity until he bribed her with goodies."

W. W. CORCORAN, in a letter to the Georgetown Courier, refers to Colonel Kurtz's reminiscences of the war of 1812, and says, relative to the Georgetown Artillery Company, which figured in that war: "There are two names omitted in those of world-wide fame, viz: George Peabody, now of London, and Francis S. Key, the latter the author of 'The Star-Spangled Banner.' Mr. Peabody was the rammer and sponger of gun No. 1. I have often heard him speak of the fight with the British frigates on the Potomac, when this company was acting under the command of either Commodore Perry or Commodore Morris. Mr. Peabody, in one of his visits to his native country, obtained a land warrant for one hundred and sixty acres, for his services in that war, with the intention of having it framed and hung up in his home, as a memento of his services to his country. The survivors now number only eight."

THE AMERICAN INDIANS.—The author of the recent work of travels in countries speaking the English language, and entitled "Greater Britain," asserts that the North American Indians, with the exception of the tribes inhabiting the southwestern plains, belong to the Malay family. The Utes and Diggers of the southwest he regards as a Tartar race. Not only does he thus group nearly all the American tribes together as the descendants of Malayan emigrants, but he ascribes a like origin to the Polynesian Aborigines from Hawaii to New Zealand, and to the Indians of the South American Pacific coast. The only apparent ground for this theory is the real or fancied resemblance which he finds in certain Indian and Polynesian words to words in the Malay language.

This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of the Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policy-Holders.

Several new and attractive tables are now presented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as INCOME-PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policy-holder not only secures a life insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income equal to ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the sum of his policy. The latter the Company agrees to return to the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy.

The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Large Sleds took the place of cars on the Minersville Passenger Railway yesterday.

Allegheny Councils.—The Allegheny Councils will hold a regular meeting tomorrow evening.

The "oldest inhabitant" thinks the fall of snow yesterday morning was one of the heaviest within his recollection.

The Ordinance in relation to shoveling the snow from sidewalks was very generally observed in both cities yesterday.

The Bill Posters' War.—John M'Couvrey and James Thackeray are rival bill posters, and like rivals in any other important matter, they don't seem to get along pleasantly with each other. We mentioned yesterday that Thackeray had made information before the Mayor against M'Couvrey for malicious mischief, the offence consisting in pasting bills on boards which Thackeray had placed at various corners throughout the city for his own especial benefit. Yesterday afternoon McCouvrey made information against his rival before Alderman Donaldson for assault and battery. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing this afternoon.

A Popular Grocery Store.

There are few wholesale and retail grocery establishments in this city more worthy the patronage of the public than the extensive and well known house of L. J. Blanchard, No. 396 Penn street, which has long and successfully monopolized a full share of trade. Being thoroughly acquainted with every detail connected with the business and devoting careful personal attention to every department of the house, the prosperity of the proprietor can be accounted for readily. He keeps at all times a splendid stock of groceries and produce, and his prices are found ranging among the lowest and most reasonable prevailing in the market. We commend Mr. Blanchard to our readers as a fair dealing and honorable business gentleman, in every way worthy the largest measure of confidence and custom.

Accident at the Rink.

Yesterday morning about three o'clock, the Superintendent of the Keystone Rink, Mr. Brown, who was sleeping in the building, was aroused by the sound of crashing glass and timbers. Upon awakening he discovered that the skylight or ventilating portion of the roof had given way under the great weight of snow upon it. Visitors to the rink will remember that the central port or comb of this roof had been raised several feet from the main room, to facilitate the lighting and ventilation of the interior. This centre portion gave way, but fortunately nearly all the debris slid down the main roof, on either side, thus leaving the main roof uninjured. A force of workmen was engaged yesterday in clearing away the rubbish previous to repairing the damage, which will be done as soon as possible. The Superintendent expects to have it in order again before the next ice forms.

Assaulted.

On Sunday night as Mr. Thomas Smith was passing down Union street from the Diamond he was assaulted by four men, who knocked him down and beat him in a terrible manner. A deep gash was made in his head, evidently with some blunt instrument, and his clothing was torn almost from his body. The assailants, after beating their victim to their heart's content, left him lying on the pavement and departed. Mr. Smith managed sometime after to make his way home, where he has since been suffering from the injuries received. The attack was so sudden that he failed to recognize any of his assailants, and it is therefore quite probable that they will never be known. It will be remembered that the assaulted party is one of the independent police who have been making raids on the violaters of the Sunday liquor law in this vicinity for sometime past. It is possible this fact may furnish some clue to the attacking party, but as yet no developments have been made in the case.

Railway Officials.

At the recent meeting of the new Board of Directors of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad, J. N. McCullough, Esq., was re-elected President and William Stewart, Esq., General Superintendent and General Freight Agent. It appears that no matter how much of the "ring" element may enter into the composition of the Board, the services of these gentlemen cannot be dispensed with. Chiefly through their management the road has attained its present prosperous condition. Its exhibit for the past year will compare favorably with any in the country. It could not be otherwise under the energetic and able management of Messrs. McCullough and Stewart.

F. R. Myers, Esq., than whom no one is entitled to higher credit for able management, and who has justly been styled in some of our exchanges "one of the railroad princes," is still General Ticket Agent of this, as well as of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, a position which we hope he will live long to fill. Owing to the onerous duties of the position, J. M. Kimball, Esq., was installed, some time since, Assistant General Ticket Agent. Mr. Kimball came quietly among us, if we remember aright, from some western road, and by his urbanity, devotion to business and the ability with which he discharges the duties of his position, is making hosts of friends. He is the right man in the right place. Both the Pittsburgh & Cleveland, and Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago roads are officered by the choicest men.

Library Lectures.

John B. Gough, Esq., lectured last evening in the Academy of Music, under the auspices of the Young Men's Mercantile Library Association. His subject was "Circumstances," and was handled in a masterly manner. It was certainly one of the best lectures Mr. Gough has ever delivered in this city. We think every one left the Academy last evening not only delighted but edified. Many a man, as was clearly demonstrated in the lecture, has been either raised to distinction or sunk into obscurity by the merest circumstance. A word or a look may make a man buoyant with hope or overwhelm him with dispair. One may reach the loftiest pinnacle of human ambition by a smooth, even and beaten walk. Another, in different circumstances, may have to fight his way, in great adversity and in the midst of much opposition to the goal. He may stumble and stagger and blunder. Still, armed with a heroic determination, he triumphs over every opposing circumstance. The speaker had a higher admiration of the blunderer and the fighter, than of the man who walks easily to destinction by a way so thoroughly hedged on both sides that it is almost impossible for him to fail in reaching the summit of worldly renown.

Mr. Gough will lecture on Saturday and Monday evenings next. Of course the house will be filled to overflowing on both occasions.

The Lecture Committee are entitled to the highest credit for the excellent manner in which they manage their department. The gentlemen who collect the tickets, and the ushers are also worthy of praise for their politeness and attention. We are under special obligations to Mr. Earl S. Gardner for favors conferred. An institution which numbers so many gentlemen whose great object is to amuse and instruct, and who are so courteous and accommodating, should be patronized by all our citizens.

THE ALLEGHENY ELECTION.

Allegheny Municipal Election—Contests in the Wards—The Final Result.

The regular municipal election in Allegheny was held yesterday. Notwithstanding the extreme disagreeableness of the weather, the turnout was better than had been expected, and in some of the wards, quite a respectable vote was polled. The most spirited contest was that for the Aldermanship of the Third ward, which resulted in the election of the opposition candidate.

In the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh wards opposition candidates were run for all the offices, with some measure of success, as the table given below demonstrates. The election passed off very quietly, without any disturbance or rowdyism, which speaks well for the attendants at the polls. Below is the official result so far as ascertained, those marked with a star being the successful candidates.

For Director of the Poor the Republican candidate, John Brown, Jr., was opposed in the Third ward alone by Peter Loeffler, who received 179 votes. In the other wards Mr. Brown had no opposition, his vote being as follows: First ward, 168; Second ward, 257; Third ward, 705; Fourth ward, 631; Fifth ward, 239; Sixth ward, 291; Seventh ward, —; Eighth ward, —.

Don't Fail to Get It.

If the merit of a work may be estimated from the universality of its reception, the Pittsburgh Real Estate Register as a reference has a claim to the first honors of local publications. It is published by the enterprising Real Estate Agents and Brokers, Messrs. Croft & Phillips, No. 139 Fourth avenue, and contains full descriptions, prices and terms of such a vast amount of property that the most fastidious cannot fail to get suited in a home. CITY COUNCILS.

An adjourned meeting of the City Councils was held in the City Council Chamber, at two o'clock, P. M., Tuesday, for the purpose of electing city officers.

SELECT COUNCIL.

The members present were Ahlhorn, Ahl, Armstrong, Burgwin, Coffin, Craig, Dickson, Edwards, Hartman, Herron, Jones, Kane, Kehew, Kirk, Laufman, Lloyd, Marshall, Morrow, Murray, Murdock, McClelland, McEwen, McMahon, Ogden, Quinn, Rafferty, Rees, Rush, Shipton, Schmidt, Torrens, S. J. Wainwright, Wilson, White, Zern, and President McAuley.

The President stated that this was a special meeting for the purpose of electing city officers.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Holmes moved as an amendment to rule 32nd, that the President of Councils be empowered to increase the number of members on the several committees as they deem proper. The motion prevailed.

Messrs. Rafferty and Armstrong not having been previously sworn, being present, the Chairman administered the oath of office to them.

CITY GAUGER.

Mr. Holmes read a communication from the City Comptroller, relative to the construction put upon the city ordinance for gauging, by the City Gauger.

The communication was received and Mr. Holmes moved that a committee of five two from Select and three from Common Councils, in conjunction with the City Solicitor, to investigate Mr. Nobbs' books for the past year, be appointed.

Mr. Kehew thought that before a committee be appointed, some specified charges should be made against Mr. Nobbs.

Mr. Holmes said that he made no charge against Mr. Nobbs, but these charges had been made, and he thought it due to Mr. Nobbs to have the matter investigated.

Mr. Craig thought that Councils were probably going too fast: and that before going further, the ordinance relative to the matter should be read.

Mr. Shipton said that the member from the Eleventh ward need not ask for charges against Mr. N., that the admissions of that gentleman through the city papers was sufficient charge, and he thought a Committee should be appointed.

After some further discussion the question was passed to a vote and adopted, and Messrs. Jones and Morrow appointed from S. C. In C. C. no action.

Mr. Schmidt, from the Sixteenth ward, announced the death of his colleague, Mr. Hoeveiler, and moved that his seat be declared vacant and the Mayor requested to issue his proclamation for an election to fill the vacancy.

The motion was adopted.

Council adjourned.

Common Councils.

Council was called to order at half past two o'clock by President Tomlinson.

The following members answered at roll-call: Messrs. Albeitz, Batchelor, Barr, Black, Berger, Bell, Boggs, Booth, Bulger, Carrol, Case, Dain, Daub, Dunseath, Fleming, Gerner, Gildenfenney, Hare, Houston, Hutchinson, Jamison, Jahn, Jones, Meanor, Meyer, Moore, Moorhead, Morgan, Morton, McClarren, McCandless, McMasters, McKelvey, Nixon, Palmer, Pearson, Penney, Potts, Reed, Rebman, Rosewell, Rook, Seiferth, Shott, Scott, Verner, Vick, Waughter, Weldon, Welsh, Weisenberger, Wilson and Tomlinson, President.

The minutes of the organization meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Hutchinson, of the Sixth, and Mr. Boggs, of the First wards, not being present at the organization meeting, were sworn in.

Mr. McClaren, of the Sixth ward, who announced at the organization meeting that he had, since his election, been appointed Notary Public, and desired to know whether the fact would render him ineligible, was also sworn.

The Clerk of Select Council announced that body was ready to go into joint session to elect city officers.

JOINT SESSION.

The members of Select Council having appeared in the Chamber of the Common branch, Mr. McAuley, President of the Select, announced the object of the Convention.

Mr. Reed moved to proceed to the election of city officers for the ensuing year. Carried.

The following officers (Republican caucus nominations) were elected by acclamation except City Guager and City Job Printer:

City Engineer—Henry J. Moore.
City Assessor—Thomas H. Phelps.
City Gauger—J. H. Nobbs.
Superintendent of Markets—Samuel Kilgore.
Clerk of Markets—D. Dunseath, Sr.
Monongahela Wharf Master—J. Rippey.
Allegheny Wharf Master—Robert A. Hill.
Salt Inspector—Kenney Gough.
Inspector of Ashes—J. McMaster King.
Inspector of Tobacco—Wm. Rinehart.
Bark Measurer—John Pollock.
City Papers—English—GAZETTE, Dispatch, Commercial; German—Freedom's Friend.
City Job Printer—A. A. Anderson & Son.
First District Street Commissioner—J. F. Huater.
Second District Street Commissioner—J. D. McFaden.
Assessor of Water Rents—Robert King.
Meat Inspector—Adam Weaver.
Superintendent Water Works—Joseph French.
Board Measurers—John Oxens, James Black, John Ochse, William G. McClure, John T. Brown, J. N. Willis, Samuel Mears, D. N. Chambers, R. H. H. Donaldson, Wm. Clark, S. B. Waughter, W. M. Brown, D. Mitchell, R. P. Beach, David Jones, W. Morrison, David Aiken, and P. Kolden.
Messenger to Committees—S. B. Cooper.
—For City Gauger there were five negative votes, and one vote against A. A. Anderson & Sons for the City Job Printing.

Mr. Shipton, of S. C., called attention to the fact that the Road Commssioners were appointed by the Road Committee, instead of being elected by Councils, as other city officers were, and thought it would be well for Councils to consider the matter and make a change if they deemed it necessary.

The joint session then adjourned.

Sabbath School Teachers' Union.

The annual meeting of the Sabbath School Teachers' Union of Pittsburgh, was held in the First U. P. Church on Monday evening. An election for officers to serve during 1869, resulted as follows:

President, Rev. Jno. S. Sands; Vice President, T. H. Rabe; Recording Secretary, T. J. McKalip; Corresponding Secretary, W. H. Knox; Treasurer, Wm. A May; Business Committee, Jno. Spratt, Prof. J. Allen Macrum, Wm. Tustin.

The careful discrimination shown by the Association in the selection of its officers is an auspicious opening of the year. These gentlemen possess, in an eminent degree, those qualities that constitute the capable and reliable officers, and they, likewise, will certainly acquit themselves with honor and speed the exertions and decide the success of the every undertaking of this useful and benevolent organization. We might justly add that there are many other estimable members, to all of which the Association could not, of course, proffer such conspicuous marks of its appreciation, but inasmuch as rotation in office is the rule, we hope, a year hence, to congratulate many of our friends upon the arduous duties of official position then to be thrust upon them. The meetings of this Society, which are monthly, are largely attended and excite special interest in them.

The place to get White Lime, Calcined Plaster, Hydraulic Cement, is at Ecker & Caskey's, 167 First street.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—"Dora" was repeated at the Opera House last night to a very fair audience, considering the unfavorable weather. It is a beautiful and pleasing drama, and was rendered in a highly satisfactory manner. Mr. Couldock's Farmer Allen is capital, and Miss Couldock's "Dora" is excellent. Miss Dargon in the role of Mary Allen is unquestionably good, and the same may be said of Messrs. Dond and Norton. The piece will be produced to-night for the last time, and we would advise all those who have not seen it to avail themselves of the opportunity of doing so.

THEATRE.—The Gregory Troupe continue to draw large houses at the Old Theatre, where they have been holding forth for over a week. The entertainments given by this troupe are of a versatile character, and very new and interesting features are introduced. The "spiral ascension" is an astonishing feat and should be seen to be appreciated.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The lovers of good music have in anticipation a rich feast this (Wednesday) and to-morrow evening. Miss Clara Louisa Kellogg, the beautiful and accomplished American Prima Donna, whose concerts have been announced for that time, arrived in the city last evening with her troupe; consequently those holding tickets need have no fears of disappointment. Miss Kellogg's high reputation as a vocalist, and the fact of her being an American lady, combined to make her the most popular singer on the American stage, for notwithstanding the American inclination to patronize foreigners, National pride and a just appreciation of talent compels all lovers of art and reason to acknowledge true worth and excellence, even though it should be found in an American. Miss Kellogg, assisted by a number of artists scarcely less eminent in their profession than herself, will give two concerts at the Academy of Music to-night and to-morrow night. The house will doubtless be crowded.

Monongahela Valley Railroad Meeting.

A meeting of the Stockholders of the proposed railroad along the Monongahela Valley was held at Schaefer's Hotel, Carson street, Birmingham, on Monday. The only business transacted was the election of the following officers to serve for the ensuing year:

President—T. W. Briggs.
Vice President—Hon. William Price, West Virginia.
Directors—Martin Briggs, Baldwin township; Watson Provost, Baldwin township; Henry Long, Pittsburgh; August Ammon, East Birmingham; William J. Alexander, Monongahela City; Thomas H. Hawkins, Washington county; Dr. A. Patton, Greene county.

It is expected that work will be commenced on the road about the first of March. The road will be chiefly used for the carriage of coal. It will be about one hundred miles long, and will connect with the Baltimore and Ohio road near Fairmount, West Virginia.

Disorderly Visitors.

John Snyder, proprietor of a beer saloon at Corks Run, made information, before Alderman Donaldson, yesterday, against Joseph Aulfingle and Peter Hurd for disorderly conduct. The prosecutor alleges that the defendants came into his saloon in an intoxicated condition and began to smash the furniture, windows, &c., of the establishment. They were finally ejected, but not before considerable damage had been done.

John also made information, before the same magistrate, against the same defendants, for assault and battery, they, according to his statement, having attacked and beat him in an unmerciful manner, just after they had been ejected from the saloon. The accused were arrested and held for a hearing in both cases.

Persons desiring to purchase, or in need of anthing usually kept in a first class dry goods house, should call at Bates & Bell's, No. 21 Fifth avenue, and get their wants supplied. The firm keep constantly on hand the best and finest goods in the market in an abundance and variety which cannot fail to satisfy both in price and style, the most exacting. A visit to the store and an examination of the goods offered for sale would satisfy all doubts in regard to this statement.

Fatal Accident on the Pan Handle Railroad—Sleeping Car Thrown from the Track and Precipitated over an Embankment Fifty Feet—Three Men Killed and Several Seriously Injured.

A most terrible railroad disaster occurred a few miles west of this city, at Cork's Run, on the Pan Handle Railroad, between three and four o'clock yesterday morning, by which three men were killed instantly and four were serious, some of them perhaps fatally, injured. The mail train west, (No. 6,) consisting of two passenger and one sleeping car, which left the Union Depot at three o'clock yesterday morning, arrived at Cork's Run about half past three o'clock, and had crossed partly over the fill, which at that point is very heavy, when the track gave way and the sleeping car in which were seven passengers, was thrown from the track and precipitated over the embankment to the run below, a distance of sixty feet, almost perpendicular. The car in its descent made several revolutions, and by the time it reached the bottom was literally demolished. Fortunately, the coupling connecting the sleeping car with the coach in front of it, broke, when the former was thrown from the track, otherwise the entire train might have been thrown over the embankment, the result of which would have been a much greater destruction of human life. The names of the killed, so far as can be ascertained, are as follows: John Allen, conductor of the sleeping car; Mr. C. McPherson, of Springfield, Ohio, and the third is supposed to be Rev. J. G. Archer, of Clearfield, Clearfield county, Pennsylvania. Mr. Henry C. Barnett, from Springfield, Ohio, a brother-in-law of Mr. McPherson, one of the killed, and Mr. John Rennike, a drover from Cynthiana, Ky., were among the injured. Mr. Barnett's injuries were of a very serious character and at first his life was despaired of. He was removed to the Continental Hotel, Mansfield, where he was attended by Dr. McCook, and at last accounts he was recovering and will probably survive his injuries. The other passengers were not seriously injured and proceeded on their journey.

The bodies of Allen and McPherson were discovered immediately after the disaster and removed to Manstield, and the Coroner sent for, who repaired thither yesterday afternoon for the purpose of holding an inquest. Shortly before his arrival the third body, supposed to be that of Rev. Mr. Archer, of Clearfield, was found under the wreck in the run, and was brought by the Coroner to the city. A jury was empannelled and sworn, and after viewing the bodies adjourned to meet at the Coroner's office Saturday, at ten o'clock, A. M., when the matter will be thoroughly investigated.

After the accident the wreck took fire, but fortunately the fire was extinguished very speedily, and the addition of the most fearful of horrors on such occasions, was avoided.

As soon as the news of the accident reached Pittsburgh Mr. J. B. Dorrington, the efficient General Ticket Agent of the company, went with sufficient force to the scene of the occurrence, and did everything that could be done. On the side of the embankment, and among the debris, he found several sums of money, some watches and one or two chains which belong to the passengers. They will be returned to those proving ownership.

Weather.

MESSRS. EDITORS: After giving some items in my article on the weather, in the GAZETTE of the 23d of December, the following appears: "This gradual lowering of the temperature in the fall to the middle of December has been generally a prelude to a cold, natural winter, and from the abundance of snow being fixed in the north-east to the west we should infer it would be a steady cold. But the indications of the present (lunar) month point to moderate weaher. Indications from December 13th to January 12th point to eighteen cloudy and variable, eleven snow and rain, and eleven sunshine days, atmosphere but moderately cold, pleasant winter month, and but a moderate amount of snow. These indications are contrary to our expectations; but it is presumed after the middle of January the winter will be severe and prolonged, as there is a large amount of snow lying north, and a mild, soft winter could not be expected." As it may be fresh in the memories of your readers, it may be found the indications have so far proved correct; and, from present prospects, may eventuate correct as regards the future. We will venture to give the future, from former experience: To-morow (Wednesday) morning cold, thermometer 28 degrees; next day, (Thursday) colder, 20 to 25 degrees; next morning, or the next, (Saturday) 10 to 15 degrees, with a heavy white frost; within forty-eighty hours after, rain or snow, or snow or rain, coming freely, closing the storm with snow, like last night; freezing, and that secures the winter, unless a February ground thaw ensues, which prepares for a third edition of winter. Indications for the next month will be given on the 19th instant to February 11th. G. A.
